He was under the influence of whisky when he started for the stafreight caught him as he was crossing the track, horribly mangling both legs below the knees. He was placed on a truck at the depot, and, catching his 600 acres and the former gentleman got yelled repeatedly at the top of his voice, "Hurrah for Bryan and Beckham." He was taken to Dr. Steele's moned. After amputating both legs below the knee he was removed to the Lexington Hospital-with slight chances of recovery. A wife and four small children are dependent upon him.

UNDER the head of "Can't do it."

the Danville Advocate says:"Bro. Waltop, who some time ago reduced the price of the INTERIOR JOURNAL to $1 a year, now announces that the price will be $2 unless paid in advance. Bro. Walton, like any other good newspaper man, knows that in these times a good county paper can not be published at $1 and the editor wait 12 months for his money." Sure, and not for $100 a year if subscribers are permitted to pay or not as they elect. We are perfectly willing to send the paper at $1 a year in advance and can do so as a profit, but the richest man could not hold out always and send it on credit with the chances of many never paying. Our edition is right at 3,000 now and it takes a good deal of white paper and at a high price to print it. The Advocate should know though that the $2 reduction was made in the price. See 4th page for notice that has been there ever since the change. We have stuck and will continue to do so to these terms-$1 in advance, $2 if credited size in the State.

Being nearly 70 years ille. Rich. of age, she has old relics collected in the long ago, which are great curiosities, showing the difference between o.a the old and the new dispensions. Among them is a fly brush made from the rear feathers of a peacock before the birth of Thomas, who is now less than 50 years of age, and not a feather is broken. She has quite a variety of home made blankets and bed covers, which were made by her own bands years ago. The sheep were caught when Tommy was a kid, the wool was spun and woven by her and the garments are far better than the cheap ready made stuff purchased now. In fact it is an old fashioned independent home and many believe that Tom is preparing to take unto himself a helpmeet to teach her to follow in the foot- icle. steps of his noble old aunt. This may be true, but we don't know who the ady may be.
